Danielle's Fem/Mail

Hello everyone.

We had a wonderful meeting the weekend of Trans Unity in Hollywood. Several of us met at the center in Hollywood and we went over to the French Market restaurant for a great dinner. We reserved a table for 12 but we were joined at dinner by Amy LaCoe and her group, the Social Butterflies and also had some people from Trans Unity join us. We had 18 people there.

The food was great there. Because we showed up before 6, most of us got free parking. The French Market in West Hollywood is trans friendly, had great food and the prices were reasonable. It is located at 7985 Santa Monica Blvd in West Hollywood.

Here is a follow up note from Amy, the coordinator of the Social Butterflies

Hi Tri Ess and SB's,

I wanted to thank Tri Ess for not only being present at such a trans-inclusive event as Trans-Unity Pride, but also for initiating with the Social Butterflies a trans-inclusive dinner at the French Quarter. If I missed any Tri-ESS women who were there, please pass the word, and those of you who know April and Dana from the GLBT center, please thank them as well, and anyone else I may have missed with this e-mail, for a very memorable dinner. It is indeed historic that Alpha Tri-Ess has come as a group to join together in Trans-Unity Pride, even though we all know Alpha indi-
